Approximate plan only. Measure your actual bins and leave clearance before arranging anything.

Do this in order

1. Empty this shelf only. Group what you use every morning separately from snack refills.
2. Put the three cereal containers against the back left. Keep the most-used one within easy reach.
3. Use one existing bin in the middle for daily snacks. Put small packets upright so the labels face forward.
4. Use the second bin on the right for unopened extras. Move duplicates there instead of mixing them into the daily bin.
5. Try the layout for one week. If the daily bin overflows, remove rarely used items before buying another container.

Shopping list and checks

No purchases recommended. This sample honors the $0 optional budget. Before using the sketch, confirm the real shelf clearance and bin dimensions. Keep food away from heat, damp areas, and outlets.

This is a fictional example of a one-zone organizing guide, not a plan for an actual home. It does not include installation or safety advice, a guaranteed fit, or claims of hands-on product testing. One factual correction would be included in a paid pilot order.
